POLITICAL PARADE

By CLEM WHITAKER

There are many ways of sabotaging the national defense program besides blowing up munition plants, putting emery dust in the wheels of industry, or selling government secrets to Hitler's stool-pigeons.

These are simply some of the most-headlined and more obvious methods used by paid saboteurs. And dangerous as they are, the nation can cope with them, if other, more insidious forms of sabotage are first eliminated.

The United States of America, in this writer's opinion, is being sabotaged, often unintentionally, but nonetheless disastrously, by men highly placed in positions of public and private trust, who pride themselves on their Americanism—by blustering public officials, who make war on the very liberties at home they seek to preserve abroad; by crepe-hanging business men, who profess to believe that America is plunging into totalitarianism, but do nothing about it, and by hard-headed, belligerent labor leaders who deliberately paralyze production, when not to produce amounts to betrayal of their Flag and country.

Distrust, disunity and defeatism are the three types of sabotage now prevalent which are most dangerous to America. The government distrusts business and industry—and business and industry distrusts the government. The worker distrusts his employer—and the employer distrusts his worker. Class is pitted against class—in a country which used to believe in unity and democracy. And out of this maelstrom comes defeatism — a questioning of whether we are the country we used to be; a dejected feeling that we have been swept away from our moorings.

If this nation declared war tomorrow, probably the confusion, distrust and defeatism would all be swept away in a sudden upwelling of old-fashioned American patriotism. But must America go to war to stand, shoulder to shoulder, as it once stood, in common defense of the principles of a free people?

Labor came through World War No. 1 without losing any of the rights and privileges it had previously gained. President Wilson, when the war ended, returned to Congress and the people the extraordinary powers he had been given during the period of the emergency. The system of private enterprise did-not end and the Statue of Liberty did not fall.

This is a time for mutual assurances. President Roosevelt, perhaps, should reassure the Aemircan people that government will slip back into its accustomed place when the emergency is over. And he should crack down on any of his cabinet members who have other intentions. Business and labor should make a covenant—and stick to it.

Once it was said: "United we stand; divided we fall!" It's still true.

Five children were born to them there, a boy and girl dying in infancy.

MAKE IT SAFE AND SANE!

The three-day week-end of Memorial Day holiday will send hundreds of thousands of cars streaming over the highways of California to resorts, mountain areas and the beaches.

Crowded highways, jammed with long lines of machines anxious to reach their destinations in the shortest time possible, are going to make demands on motorists' patience. But isn't it better to pay with a few minutes' delay than, by incautious driving, to pay with a lifetime of regret? Isn't it far better to take a brief "time-out" than a long chance, bringing irreparable misfortune to loved ones, yourself, or some guiltless other party?

Make your Memorial Day excursion memorable for the good time you had, not for the avoidable misfortune it brought! Make it a safe, sane, and happy holiday!

TURKEY TIME

History, as historians will tell you, never repeats itself, but one familiar event in American life is due for a return engagement, come 1942—Thanksgiving Day on the fourth Thursday of the month! Having sought unsuccessfully to win wide support for celebrating the day a week earlier, President Roosevelt announces return to the old style calendar. For one good thing, it will give Mr. Tom Turkey an extra week in which to fatten up!

AS OTHERS SEE US

Back from South America as a member of a fact-finding expedition—not a good will tour!—composed of prominent American industrial scientists, Dr. Milton Silverman, San Francisco bio-chemist and author, has several trenchant comments to make on his 26,000 mile tour of the neighbor continent.

With more modesty than most, Dr. Silverman says that to qualify as an expert on South American affairs you must either stay there less than a week or more than ten years. Not as an expert therefore, but merely as an astute observer, he brings back the following conclusions: The Latin American countries are rapidly becoming surfeited with good will tours. The occasional visits of U. S. battleships and bombers appear to arouse more enthusiasm than "good neighbor" talks. The Nazis, including native pro-German elements, are swerving several South American governments directly into the Axis line-up. The English in Argentina, confident of Britain's ulitmate victory, are desperately seeking to out-compete the Nazis and are actually seeking orders for war materials from the Argentines.

The typical difficulty of the good will tour is that the visiting guests, after consuming many magnums of free champagne and demanding a great deal of free entertainment, then proceed to tell South Americans what is wrong with their countries. And then there are the American foreign colonies who bitterly protest when the Latin American nations alter their labor laws, freeze their foreign exchange, or nationalize their banks—actions, which as sovereign powers, they have a perfect right to take.

Friendly relations among nations of this hemisphere are essential to the security of all. A knowledge of how others see us, though not always flattering to our vanity, is a good way of finding out how we can be what we want to be—a good neighbor.

HISTORY AS YOU LIKE IT

To these history-making times, California has added a history-making chapter of her own on the sunlit side. Today the state is actually spending less than it takes in, its sales tax revenue since last July has climbed nearly 24 per cent, its cash deficiency is lower, relief expenditure are half what they were last year. This is history we like to read about!

WHAT! NO CLICHES?

A group of optimists back east, banded together to wage war on cliches, has an insuperable job on its hands.

After all, jaded and shopworn though the cliche may be, it performs its job efficiently, like a well-aged pipe. It has the savor and mellow wisdom of experience behind it. When we hear that someone has "hit the nail on the head," or that he flings his money around in "easy come, easy go" style and lives in perpetual fear of the "wolf at the door," we know exactly what the speaker means. The old saw, the ancient proverb, seasoned and sanctioned by centuries of usage, is a comfortable handle with which to turn out a metaphor or simile.

Of course, if a venerable expression has ceased to be true in this modern world, that's a horse of another color—pardon the cliche. The whiskered adage about living "a dog's life" is a case in point. Clearly, a dog's life is no longer synonymous with misery and neglect. Government figures, showing the many millions spent yearly on the feeding, clothing and medical treatment of dogs by devoted owners, indicate that a dog's life, far from being an epithet of opprobrium, is really a life that denotes good feeding, adequate housing and proper medical care—in fact, the New Deal dream come true.

But by and large, the anti-cliche forces appear to have bitten off more than they can chew. If they believe they can drive old sayings into the discard, they are simply counting their chickens before they are hatched.

SEE CALIFORNIA FIRST!

Officials of the 11 western states, hanging out the welcome sign for the nation's tourists, are energetically broadcasting the slogan-invitation: "See the Old West This Year!"

That's an invitation in which we heartily concur. But to millions of Californians, who are busily planning their summer vacations, we feel inclined to append the words: "See California First!"

Strange as it may seem, California is still an unopened book to tens of thousands of Californians, except for their own home towns and a few favored playgrounds. Yet it is the most interesting travel book in the whole library of vacation literature.

We have 58 counties in California, each with its own particular claims to fame; each boasting attractions which can be found no where else on the face of the globe. And resort surveys indicate that less than ten per cent of the men and women who live in California really know California—in all its 58 varieties of vacation attractions.

This is a good year to get acquainted with our own state; to spend our money with our fellow Californians and help restore California prosperity. Let's —"See California First!"

WE SHOULDER ARMS

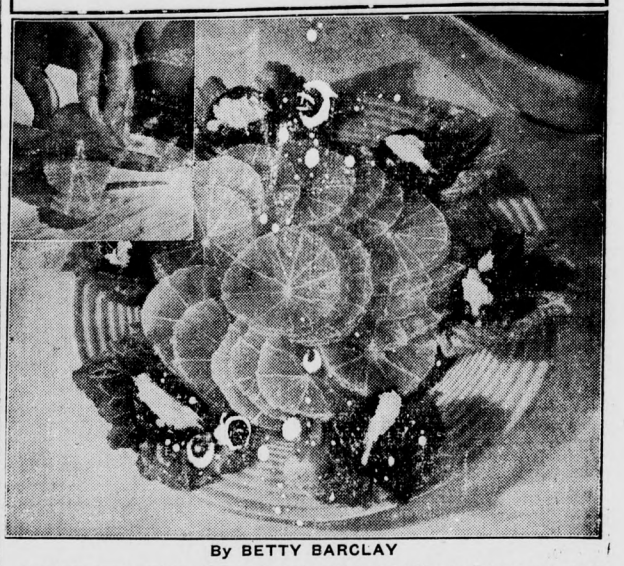
Word comes out of Washington that draftees are to be taken, from next month on, at the rate of 60,000 a month, and by the end of the year the Army is expected to number more than 2,000,000 men!

Word also comes from the national capital that the new tax program is nearing completion—and business and industry and individual taxpayers will soon be told what burdens they must bear to equip and maintain that Army.

Now if some one in Washington will just send out word to strike leaders and strike agitators that this is no time to be throwing monkey wrenches into Uncle Sam's machinery, perhaps we can all shoulder our fair share of the load and go about the business of making this country ready for any emergency.

Our American boys are sholdering arms with good spirit and little grumbling about what it may cost them. The least the rest of us can do is to get in step with the procession.

Vitamins Called Out For Health Defense



By BETTY BARCLAY

Draftee number 1 on the nation's food defense program is Mr. Vitamin. The daily glass of orange juice and the daily salad take on new importance in the light of our nation's need for better food for better national health.

Draft boards are finding young men unfit for service, often as a result of malnutrition. The nation's attention is centering again on this condition which came to light with the first World War.

It's up to the women in the home to help here, for they buy the food and plan the meals. The rule to follow is — be sure your food is giving you and your family an adequate supply of the elements needed, especially those vitamins which are not stored by the body but must be eaten every day.

One of these vitamins — vitamin B — is being added under government supervision to breads and other cereal products. Vitamin B is found naturally in certain other foods, such as oranges, yeast and peanut butter.

Vitamin C is another vitamin that the body does not store. Most important every day sources of this vitamin are the citrus fruits — oranges and lemons. These fruits are fortunately available every day in the year, for growers in California have discovered that the near-tropical climate of that state permits the growing and harvesting of these fruits all year 'round.

In the winter and early spring months, the Washington Navel orange comes to market. It is seedless and has a firm meat, easy to slice and section. In the summer there is the juiceful Valencia.

A large glass of orange juice served for breakfast furnishes one day's vitamin C defense. A salad is another delicious way of serving this fruit. Here are several salad recipes including a description of the one pictured.

Orange Prune Cheese Salad

Fill center of salad plate with a generous serving of orange slices. For these peel a large orange and cut in ¼-inch slices. Circle plate with 5 or 6 cooked prunes, stuffed with cottage cheese, and laid on leaves of crisp romaine or lettuce.

The prunes may be stuffed with peanut butter; or dates stuffed with cream cheese may be substituted for the prunes.

Serve with Lemon French Dressing made by blending: ¼ cup lemon juice, ¼ cup salad oil, 1 tablespoon honey or sugar; ½ teaspoon each salt and paprika.

With bread and butter and a beverage, such as milk, you have a complete luncheon or supper meal, packed with protective vitamins.

Orange Salad Combinations

Other popular orange salad combinations are:

Orange and Strawberries — Arrange a circle of orange slices on lettuce. Top each slice with a strawberry. Cherries or other berries may replace strawberries.

Orange Watercress — Arrange orange slices on bed of watercress. Top with sliced stuffed olives.

Harrison Avenue To Be Extended

There is definite prospect now that the two sections of Harrison avenue will be united by extending the road 240 feet through the intervening orchard.

Joseph M. McKinnon, in whose district the street lies stated, "if I can get the right-of-way I'll do it right away. There's no doubt it should be done."

The extension was recommended by the county planning commission at the request of a group of Campbell citizens.

It would be of particular value to the canneries as it would provide direct access for trucks to Hamilton avenue. The residents on the present two section street would also have a through thoroughfare.

Comes From Bathing

Knights of the Bath is derived from the ceremony of bathing, which was formerly practiced at the inauguration of a knight as a symbol of purity. The last knights created in this ancient form were at the coronation of Charles II in 1661.

Members of the Country Woman's club were hostesses on Friday at a lovely dessert bridge held in the club room. The affair was a social and financial success. Funds received will be used to further equip the kitchen which is in connection with the club rooms and the Campbell library.

The dessert, table appointments and all decorations were patriotic in motif. The small red, white and blue table bouquets were gathered during bridge to form a large American Flag.

Moreland Students Hear Explorer

During the past two weeks many interesting events have taken place at Moreland school, among them being the appearance to Ed Levin to talk on his Alaskan trip with Father Hubbard.

On Tuesday morning, May 27, the entire student body assembled in the auditorium to listen to the very interesting talk by Mr. Levin.

In addition to his talk he showed two reels of sound pictures, one of which had Lowell Thomas, the famous novelist and commentator interviewing Father Hubbard.

Following the motion pictures the explorer answered the many questions put to him by the interested students and teachers.

In addition to this, Principal Bart Concannon and Ed Levin, completed tentative arrangements to have the Moreland school students correspond with some of the children on King Island.

Arrangements for the appearance of Mr. Levin at the school were made by Principal Concannon, friend of the explorer.

The general women's guild of the Congregational church will hold a regular monthy meeting in the church parlors Thursday afternoon, June 5, at 2 o'clock. As this will be the last meeting until September, all members and friends are urged to attend. Group 1 will be hostess.

OUR HIGH SCHOOL

The booklet "Things Worth Knowing About Your School" was compiled for Public Schools Week, and the following articles are taken from it. —Editor.

BOYS ATTENDANCE

Because of its relation to scholarship, morale and financial returns, regular attendance is considered of utmost importance at the Campbell Union High school. At one time it was the practice to require a written excuse from the home after absence but that plan was abandoned about two years ago. The boys now write their own reasons for absence and it is gratifying to observe that only rarely is an instance of falsification discovered.

After absence a boy obtains written permission from the office to re-enter his classes. The admit slip given him indicates whether the absence from school was for an approved reason, for cause not approved, or was a case of truancy. The only approved reasons are illness or death in the family. A "not approved" slip is given where absence may be necessary but the cause is not legally recognized; for example, for work, or a trip approved by the parents. In these cases school work missed during absence may be made up. However, when a boy deliberately stays away from school without cause his absence is considered truancy and he is given a failing grade for the time missed.

Whenever a boy wishes to leave school before the end of the day, whether it be for a few minutes, for half of the day, or if he knows in advance that it will be necessary for him to be away he is expected to obtain a permit which we call an "off the grounds" slip. We do ask that a written request from the home be presented when permission to leave the school grounds is desired to assure the greatest cooperation between the home and the school.

By their fine cooperation with the office in this matter of attendance, our boys, with few exceptions, have shown that they appreciate the confidence placed in them and are worthy of the trust.

Miss Helen M. Nielson is in charge of boys attendance.

John T. Whister, father of Mrs. Willard H. Van Dyke passed away suddenly last Thursday at Santa Rosa, the result of a heart attack. Services were held Saturday in Oakland.

"Ice Folliettes," skating wil all-new Ice Follies of 1941 at Winterland, S. F.

Ice Follies Are In San Francisco

Gliding smoothly over a glistening sheet of ice under vari-hued lights, 24 Ice Folliettes open the all-new Ice Follies of 1941 with an elaborate production number, named Moonlight Vision.

Grace and beauty mark this episode of the great rink extravaganza, which will be playing every night at Winterland, in San Francisco.

Costumed in semi-transparent hoop skirts, the number has a modern atmosphere and yet is an ideal opening number built around flowing rhythm and easy grace. The girls cover the entire ice surface with delicate patterns and thrilling formations as the Moonlight Vision progresses. It is skated to the music of "Waltzing with a Moonbeam," written especially for the Ice Follies of 1941 by Stanley Cowan and Bobby Worth. This is the first time in figure-skating history that the music for a group number was written to the routine rather than having the routine patterned to fit stock music. A special arrangement of the music for orchestra was made by George Hackett of Hollywood.

Featured as a specialty within the Moonlight Vision episode are Valerie and Jenna. Costumed as Romeo and Juliet, the two girls glide smoothly between ever changing formations of the 24 Ice Folliettes as they do an expert double.

Following Moonlight Vision, but remaining an integral part of the number, is Bobby Widholm, the clever young comedian who does a number of satirical figure skating as Diana of the Moon beams.

When Ice Follies of 1941 had its premiere in Hollywood early last fall the nation's foremost critics in the film capitol hailed Moonlight Vision as the finest number ever seen on ice.

Money For Road Alloted

Santa Clara county board of supervisors at Monday's meeting allowed $2766 damages for realignment of the Campbell-Los Gatos highway.

This is the long projected change to eliminate two right angle turns in the road, one opposite Parr avenue on which the ranch property of Mrs. B. O. Curry is located and the second at the location of the Big Boy service station.

The realignment follows the railroad to near Vasona Junction.

The amount of damage was set by a board of citizen "viewers" appointed by the supervisors, but was increased by $10.00 to recompense S. Falcone for loss of an almond and an olive tree.

Work is scheduled for this fall.

Moreland School News

On Thursday, May 22, the seventh and eighth graders played host to 30 graduating eighth graders of the Roosevelt school of Burlingame.

The visitors arrived at nine-thirty and after being greeted by Principal Bart Concannon they were shown about the school grounds and buildings.

The primary grade's rhythm band, directed by Miss Gussie Hintz, played and sang several numbers and then made two records which they played back to the visitors.

Following this the visitors and the hosts met in the principal's room for joint classes and various activies in the school, district and county, were explained.

After class discussion, the groups adjourned to the playground where the girls chose sides as did the boys for a game of baseball. The pitchers for the boy's teams were the two school principals.

The morning was climaxed by lunch in the cafeteria.

Visitors to the school last week included Mrs. Leroy Anderson, school trustee, who told the Burlingame visitors something about the history of Moreland school.

Moreland school is celebrating the ninetieth year of its founding as the first free public school in the valley in 1851.

Last Friday the students saw a three reel silent picture called "Alaska."

In the election of eighth grade officers Ermalind Vieira was elected president; Dolores Smith, vice-president; and Lois Barbano, secretary.

A "Ham and Eggs" basket picnic will be held all day tomorrow (Memorial Day) at La Vegga park. Milk, coffee, and sugar free. Willis Allen will be the speaker.. Tonight at 8 o'clock Mr. Allen will speak at the civic auditorium. There will also be a mystery speaker.

IN TOWN OR COUNTRY

a Modern ELECTRIC RANGE is a joy to use

You will like an electric range for its dependability. It never lets you down. Give it a cooking job to do, set a few dials and you can feel free to let electricity do the job of cooking you have assigned to it. The millions of women who now cook electrically know the joy of having an electric range to do their cooking, especially during hot summer days. There is no need to stand over a hot stove. No need to stand by for oven peeking or basting or fussing whatsoever. It is simply a matter of "set it and forget it" as far as cooking with an automatic electric range is concerned.

Meals on time every time—you can rely on your electric range to do that whether you live in town or country. Why not know the enjoyment of this modern, simplified method of cooking right now? Electric Range prices are extremely low. Operating cost is less than you would imagine. You will be happier when you "go happy and go electric" in your kitchen. Any electric range you may select can of course be bought on easy budget terms.
